WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Several hundred thousand national guardsmen and army reservists today began preparing for active duty, with renewed assurances that their dependents will be cared for and their jobs protected.

Congressional action on a bill empowering the president to summon these men to the colors for a year's training was virtually complete after the house amended and approved the measure and returned it to the senate.

Quick Compromise

Senate leaders predicted a quick compromise on the house changes, after which the bill will go to the White House. The chief executive's signature is assured because he requested congress to enact the measure.

Indications were that the amendment by Rep. Dirksen (R) Ill., providing "bread and butter" allowances for dependents, would be accepted by the senate.

"This will allow the president to fix scales of payment for wives and children, and if they are to be left short, he can provide them with fair allotments," Dirksen explained. He said he thought there was "virtually no opposition" to the provision.

Sen. Thomas (D) Utah, chairman of the Senate Labor committee, said

Londoners Take Shelter In Air Raid Chambers

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The population of London took to its air raid shelters for the second day in succession this afternoon when new waves of Nazi bombers on missions of destruction again raided the British Isles.

There was no way of counting the exact number of raiders engaged. Some observers estimated a thousand, others said that twice that many had roared out of Nazi Germany's seemingly inexhaustible aerial reservoir.

Hundreds Engaged

Hundreds of them, in any case, were reported engaged in a gigantic raid over the southeast coast area late this afternoon.

Fifteen German planes had been shot down up to 3 p. m., according to unofficial estimates, nine of them going down in one terrific battle over the English channel just off a southeast coast port.

The population of London took to the shelters in good order and without panic. There were no immediate indications that German planes had reached the capital itself or dropped bombs.

London had a 20-minute alarm yesterday during the Nazi bombing of Croydon airdrome.

Meanwhile, an official air minis-

Indiana Folks Cheer Willkie As He Returns

To Accept Republican Nomination For President In Elwood Saturday

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Aug. 16—Wendell Willkie was at home today in his native state of Indiana where he was born 48 years ago, after a Hoosier welcome which brought tears to his eyes. From Indianapolis, where a chartered plane landed the Republican presidential nominee early last night, to Rushville, which he reached at midnight, he passed through almost continuous lanes of cheering citizens. The main street of Indianapolis was packed curb to buildings and red fire burned here and there as it did in Irvington, Cumberland, Morristown and Harlington as Willikie's car, one of at least a hundred in an automobile cavalcade, drove slowly over the fifty-mile route.

Ends Long Day

Enthusiastic Willkie fans in automobiles drove, with more enthusiasm then thinking on the wrong side of two-lane highways trying to catch up with the candidate's car and near accidents featured every mile of the long drive which topped a long day.

The candidate rode at the head of a rodeo parade in Colorado Springs, Colo., at 10 a. m., in the morning and at midnight, he was riding through the center of this Indiana town still waving the familiar straw "skimmer" he has carried, worn and waved since his nomination at Philadelphia.

His only speech of the day was at Kansas City, where some ten

Legion Will Meet In Altoona 1941

Named Today Without Opposition—Governor James Speaks This Afternoon

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., Aug. 16.—Without opposition, Altoona was selected as next year's meeting place of Pennsylvania members of the American Legion, now holding its 22nd annual state convention in this city.

Escorted by former State Legion Commander Walter Kress, Gov. Arthur H. James arrived at noon to address the 10,000 delegates and visitors at this afternoon's session.

Rain which fell throughout the morning failed to dampen the ardor of the 3,500 delegates, but it threatened to force postponement of the junior drum and bugle corps contest in the stadium of Albright College.

The Legionnaires were confronted with a busy calendar today, the program and list of resolutions scheduled for action showing that they are going after all un-American moves, especially fifth-column activity.

Pilots Battle Four Miles Up

Forced To Use Oxygen And Wear Arctic Clothes For Air Fighting

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The battle for Britain took place today at heights so great that all participants in their thousand or more planes were forced to use oxygen constantly.

Since the Royal air force has punished the German raiders so heavily, they have chosen to fly too high to be seen and only the drone of their motors gives away their presence.

This afternoon, observers estimated that hundreds of Nazi planes had crossed the coast at an altitude of more than four miles. Despite this extreme altitude, British spitfires and hurricanes sought out and contacted the enemy.

Reports On Job Mobilization

Chairman Walter Fuller Makes Recommendations Of Many Changes

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 16.—Extensive recommendations intended to stimulate employment and industrial activity in Pennsylvania today were announced by the job mobilization committee in a final 10-page report.

The campaign terminated May 1 after six-and-a-half months of activity under the chairmanship of Walter D. Fuller, Philadelphia. More than 10,000 members of citizens' job mobilization committees took part in the program.

The committee's report recommended:

(1) A complete placement service in the department of public assistance's county offices to supplement work of the state employment service.

(2) Continuation of the occupational training and retraining programs.

(3) Inclusion of a two-year advanced technical training program at the state's 14 teachers college to qualify trainees for jobs; or merge "from three to six" of the teachers colleges into junior vocational colleges.

Field Service

(4) Inaugauration of a field service by the Department of Labor and Industry to expand the Pennsylvania apprenticeship council and encourage apprenticeship training within industry.

(5) Develovment of a "junior employment service" for youth by the Pennsylvania state employment service to cooperate with public schools.

(6) A complete retaining of employables on relief.

(7) Continuation of efforts to reduce relief rolls by the department of public instruction through encouragement of occupational surveys and by pooling job-vacancy information.

(8) Establishment of a state employment council to coordinate services of various state departments to meet the needs of labor and industry.

READING, Pa., Aug. 16—Pennsylvania's Legionnaires today were expected to demand immediate passage of the Burke-Wadsworth military conscription bill and pledge service of 76,000 members in the state as a "home guard" to defend this country.

Special Fleet To Bomb London

Hitler Endeavoring To Prove German Planes Can Bomb Anywhere, Anytime

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 16.—In an effort to prove that the Nazi airforce can attack with impugnity—anywhere and any time—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler this afternoon dispatched a special squadron of trained air units to attack the main bastions of London defense.

An authoritative announcement, disclosing the German plans in detail in advance of their execution in complete defiance of accepted military strategy, said flatly that the expedition was designed to show that "no power in the world" can stand up against the German air force.

If necessary, the statement said, bombs will be dropped on London proper, but the immediate objective will be "all military targets and important objectives" close to the vicinity of the British capital.

Military quarters, disclosing that the picked units had already reached the channel, said that special bulletins would be issued during the evening to detail progress of the undertaking.

Coroner's Jury Finds Mine Officials Negligent In Disaster Inquest

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 16—A coroner's jury today found negligence by three officials of the Sonman Shaft Coal Company was responsible for the explosion which killed 63 men last July 15.

After deliberating for three hours, the jury returned the following verdict:

"We find that Freeman George and 62 others came accidentally to their deaths on July 15, 1940, at the Sonman slope mine by asphyxiation and first and second degree burns caused by gas explosion, the gas being ignited by a locomotive trolley.

Failure Charged

"The ignition was superinduced by the failure of the system of mining and negligence of the officials directly in charge of the mine management at the time of the explosion, Victor Duras, superintendent; L. L. Steele, forman, and Roy Wahl, assistant foreman."

Whether criminal prosecution will result from the jury's startling verdict will be determined next week at a conference at the State Department of Mines at Harrisburg, Pa., according to Richard Maize, deputy secretary of mines and chairman of the board of inquiry into the explosion.

Italy Claims Huge Success

Rome Announces It Has Taken Control Of Mediterranean From British

(International News Service)

ROME, Aug. 16.—Italy has succeeded in taking complete and absolute control of the Mediterranean away from the British, the newspaper Il Tribuna claimed today.

It asserted that the Italian navy and air force had stopped every single possibility of British traffic between the Atlantic Ocean and Egypt. It also claimed that the British fortified island of Malta had been rendered useless.

Tactics of strategy in the war in north Africa are based on modern European methods of mechanized warfare instead of the old traditional colonial methods, the newspaper added.

Meanwhile, the Lavoro Fascista carried an article ridiculing the United States army, particularly for its lack of equipment. Under an English headline: "The U. S. Army," the newspaper printed pictures of American troops carrying out maneuvers without any weapons.

"Further, the United States government is carrying on conversations with the Canadian government looking to defense of the American hemisphere."

Senate Waits For Willkie's Views

Conscription Bill Action Delayed

Opponents Of Draft Would Have The Voters Decide The Issue At Polls

WILLKIE'S SPEECH MAY CLARIFY ISSUE

By ROBERT A. McGILL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—Opponents of military conscription today renewed their challenge to submit the issue to a popular referendum as the senate awaited Wendell L. Willkie's views on the question.

Senator Adams (D) Colo., proposed that congress defer a vote until next year to permit senate and house members to "talk it over with the people." Senator Wheeler (D) Mont., urged both parties to "go to the country on the issue."

Hope For Help

Both foes and supporters of the bill, to make 12,000,000 men between 21 and 31 liable to a year's military training, were hoping Willkie's views will strengthen their fight. He is expected to announce his stand tomorrow at Elwood, Ind., when he makes his speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination. The senate was in recess today to allow G.O.P. members to go to Elwood.

The opposing factions concede that should Willkie declare against peacetime conscription the bill stands a good chance of being defeated; that if he declares for the measure it will pass by a large majority; and that if he takes a neutral position the Maloney substitute bill, to continue voluntary enlistment until next year, will be adopted.

Reports were current that Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., a leader of the opposition bloc, wired Willkie urging him to denounce conscription but Vandenburg, however, wouldn't comment. If Willkie condemns conscription the question will become a chief issue of the campaign.

Adams asserted, meanwhile, that the Maloney substitute, to postpone conscription until next year to see if voluntary one-year enlistments fail to provide sufficient men, in the meantime, "is a dodge," and that "it will not settle the controversy over the principle of a peace-time draft."

Let People Decide

"I will support the Maloney amendment rather than the original bill," Adams said, "but I think it would be best for the country to defer action until members of congress have had an opportunity to discuss it first hand with their constituents."

Wheeler dared proponents of the conscription bill to "go to the country" and ascertain sentiment in a radio broadcast last night.

"I would like to have the New York lawyers—the army general staff—and any others who are advocating the passage of this bill—stand before the farmers—and the workers—the mothers and fathers, and tell them what a fine thing peacetime conscription is for their boys," he said. "I would like to see those who will have to do the fighting and the dying decide this question."

The administration's side of the controversy was defended over the radio by Maj. Lewis Hershey of the army general staff. He said:

"Every national emergency in our history has been an indictment of the voluntary system. Selective service is the only method by which we can procure men necessary to complete our national defense program."

Administration leaders utilized the long week end recess to get colleagues to pledge votes against the Maloney proposal, now said to have a majority of support. Senate majority leader Barkley ordered the senate to convene an hour earlier on Monday, 11 o'clock, and said he expects voting on amendments to start by the middle of the week.

Strong, assistant chief of staff in charge of air, are now in England as observers at the invitation of the British government, together with Admiral Robert L. Ghormley and members of the latter staff.

To The Caribbean

Mr. Roosevelt, in making his startling announcement that the United States was seeking to acquire bases on British possessions presumably stretching from Newfoundland to the Caribbean, and at the same time discussing possible eventualities with neighboring Canada, made his statement in three sections.

First he told of the presence in England of the military mission.

Then, saying that anticipating questions regarding sale of destroyers, he made his brief statement in direct quotation regarding acquirement of naval and air bases.

The president then drew another figurative line and told of the Canadian conversations.

Beyond this brief announcement, the president would not go. Repeated efforts to get him to discuss the destroyer problem finally brought a flat statement that he did not intend to answer any of those questions.

He did say that he had not read an opinion by Dean Atchison holding such a sale to be perfectly legal, although he knew it was in the Sunday newspapers. He also said he had received no opinion from the attorney general.

Mr. Roosevelt broke his press conference off rather abruptly, suggesting that reporters already had a good story, and cautioning them to stick to news facts and not try to do any assuming.

try check-up showed 169 German and 34 British planes lost in yesterday's series of combats.

Pilots of 17 of the 34 British craft are safe, the announcement said.

Sixteen German planes carried out one attack on a well-known coastal port.

Raid Docks

Docks and piers were raided as well as shipping in the channel nearby. One commercial house was demolished with a direct hit.

At the same time, enemy planes were reported approaching various southeast coast towns, apparently converging for a mass onslaught like that of yesterday in which more than a thousand Nazi bombers raked the British Isles and even carried their attacks to Croydon airdrome, less than a dozen miles from London.

Several casualties occurred in the Croydon raid, which for the first time brought the war to suburban London.

Late this morning, a young boy was fished out of the debris of his wrecked home, still alive although apparently badly injured. Officials said that prompt work by air raid precautions squads and searchlight detachments during the night was at least partly responsible for the small casualty list.

Once again, the German raids embraced a wide area, one Nazi bomber was brought down by royal air force planes in the river Humber on the northeast coast near Hull at the same time that other German planes were lashing the south coast.

Claim 153

An official breakdown of German losses yesterday said that 153 Nazi planes were brought down by R. A. F. planes, 11 by anti-aircraft fire, one by a Lewis gun and two by infantry fire.

"The attacks resulted in violent air battles in which Major Gallans gained his 20th victory in the air.

"Several British ports were mined.

"Night attacks by British planes on western Germany caused no worthwhile damage.

"Yesterday's enemy losses totalled at least 143 planes, of which 106 were downed in air battles and the remainder were destroyed on the ground or by anti-aircraft batteries.

21 Balloons

"Furthermore, 21 balloons were shot down.

"Thirty-two German planes did not return but German rescue planes picked up nine German airmen and one British flier in the English Channel.

"One German submarine sank two merchant vessels totalling 14,000 tons. Several of our minesweepers shot down four of ten spitfires (British fighting planes) which were attacking them."

An earlier German announcement said 200 German bombers, protected by approximately 320 Messerschmidt pursuit planes and aerial destroyers, participated in yesterday's mass raids on Britain, everywhere obtaining "good results."

thousand persons came down to the airport to hear the Pendergast political machine blasted and the politics of the Roosevelt administration scored.

"During this campaign, I shall call attention many times to the difference between the high sounding words spoken in Washington and the low political purposes carried into effect," Willkie told his Kansas City audience.

"Democracy and his way of life is on test," Willkie asserted. "In order to make it the most effective way of life, we must cut out of it every cancer that tends to destroy this way of life.

"The mayor of Kansas City helped to cut out one of the cancers. America to be strong must have the full functioning of the Democratic processes. The slimey political machines must be eliminated. The Pendergast machine, the Kelly-Nash machine in Chicago and the Hague machine in New Jersey must go."

Generous Applause

While the Kansas City audience gave him a generous hand, the real applause for the candidate started when he reached Indianapolis. He has had polite attention and applause from audiences in Salt Lake City, Cheyenne and other places—but Indiana gave him a genuine welcome.

There was sincerity in every cheer and wave—sincerity in the houses which hung the flag and placed pictures of the candidate on their front lawns under electric lamps.

The route carried the candidate past one of his own five farms, carefully fenced and with neat white concrete posts, it carried him past the "crick" where he waded as a boy and past the house which townspeople mistakenly point out as the place where young Phil Willkie, son of the candidate was born. Actually, Philip was born in Akron, Ohio.

The center of Rushville was packed so tightly that fenders of the automobiles brushed spectators into the ranks behind them and through it all, a band on the court house lawn played "God Bless America" with fanatical zeal.

Through the crowded center Willkie's car moved along and out to a quiet street under old shade trees where Mrs. Willkie's mother lives in a white frame house.

Neighbors crowded around or swarmed up on the porch to shake hands with the Willkies or call their names and it was some ten minutes before they could get into the house. Their stay there was brief—Mrs. Willkie said her 78-year-old mother could not possibly stand the excitement—and then they walked down the street a block to the home of the Misses Mary and Nora Sleeth, with whom they spent the night.

Mary Sleeth manages Willkie's farms and is the librarian under whom Edith Wilk worked when Willkie met and courted her. In fact, Miss Sleeth is represented as having helped cupid with the match.

Today, the candidate planned to devote almost entirely to rest in preparation for the Saturday afternoon notification ceremonies at Elwood.

He will leave here by train Saturday morning for the 40-mile ride and immediately after the notification ceremonies was expected to return to Rushville for a few days' additional rest.

DEMOCRATS CITE JAMES' RECORD

to carry out his campaign promises and the mistakes he has made as an executive is the best Pennsylvania issue I can think of. The state campaign probably will start right after Willkie makes his acceptance speech, although it may not begin officially until after Labor Day."

The veteran Democrat reiterated his prediction that Mr. Roosevelt will carry Pennsylvania by 400,000 votes. The president in 1936 defeated his Republican opponent in this state by 600,000 votes.

Dr. Harr was equally enthusiastic over prospects of a Democratic triumph at the November election.

ROOSEVELT DID HIS PART

SO MANY bouquets have been tossed recently at Postmaster General Farley, upon the occasion of his resignation, that it may be considered a trifle unkind to point out that Mr. Farley, in narrating the healthy development of the post office in recent years, failed to give proper credit to President Roosevelt for the latter's assistance in raising postal receipts. Probably no President in American history has done more.

According to Rep. Bruce Barton, there have been twelve issues which brought heavy mail to Washington in recent years. Of the nine in which Congress voted in accordance with the heavy mail demand, the proposed Supreme Court packing bill and the first government reorganization measure ranked first and second. Thousands and thousands of citizens, fearing the government was about to depart from its traditional democratic ways, went to the trouble of writing letters to their Congressmen, imploring them to defeat the proposed legislation. Certainly the furore created was a boon to postal receipts.

There were other issues, of less import, which also boosted the post office's income. Among them were repeal of prohibition, social security and the holding company bill, all of which brought myriad letters to Congressmen.

As long as Mr. Farley was mentioning the development of the post office department in his letter of resignation, it would have been nice of him to bestow due credit upon the President. He might have added a little phrase reminiscent of NRA. He might have said: "Of course, Franklin, you did your part."

MISSED IN THE CENSUS

The San Francisco press carries a succession of letters from readers who claim never to have been counted in the 1940 census, and to be unable to interest the appropriate authority in counting them now. There is no way of guessing what the margin of error was in the city, but the local press surmises it was considerable.

The mayor of New Providence, New Jersey, suspected a mistake in the population count of that place, given out officially as 1,859, or 40 less than ten years ago. A recheck developed the interesting fact that the enumerators had missed 553 residents and that three streets had been overlooked in their entirety.

In a community so small, local skepticism of a population count can be pretty well supported by ordinary observation. There may be the same skepticism in large communities, but no ready means of checking on it. Meanwhile, a notion flourished that the census for 1940 is not the most nearly accurate ever made.

LESSON IN COURAGE

No sane person will deny the need for haste in rearming the United States for all the eventualities of mechanized warfare. America's potential enemies today are more powerful, resolute and ruthless than were any nations with which it grappled in the past. But lest anyone be too greatly disheartened by the current state of affairs, it might be pointed out that there have been occasions in the past when the United States was in a far worse position than it is today.

One hundred and sixty-five years ago, on August 13, 1775, Washington informed Congress that the whole stock of powder in New England amounted to no more than 9,927 pounds, about nine pounds to a man. This information was communicated to the British by a deserter, but it is said that the British forces could not believe it possible that the Americans possessed such consummate assurance as to continue to invest them in Boston while so destitute of ammunition.

Thus, while the United States prepares to the fullest extent to meet any possible threat against it, its citizens can learn from Washington the sublime lesson of courage in the face of almost overwhelming difficulties.

BATTLE FOR THE AIR

Intensification of air attacks being made relentlessly by Hitler upon England, despite growing losses in planes and men by the Nazis, can mean only, in the view of most observers, that a blitzkrieg and attempt at invasion of the British Isles impends. That seems to be Hitler's purpose, at least, and only British resistance so strong that such an attempt would be foredoomed to failure can prevent it.

While censored dispatches, with both England and Germany claiming to be inflicting four to one losses upon the enemy, leave the progress of the air attack upon England obscure, it appears from this distance that the British are giving a good account of themselves and can probably defeat an attempt at invasion. It is highly likely, though, that England has suffered enormous damage and casualties in the continued air raids by the Nazis. Naturally such information would be suppressed by the censor as damaging to morale.

Nor have British flyers been engaged solely in battling the air invaders. Scores of British bombers have wrought havoc in Germany and German-occupied territory as well as in Italy. The fact that Britain can spare planes to make Mussolini squirm while battling thousands of Nazi planes over England and raiding military objectives in Germany and its vassal states lends credence to the report that England's plane production has caught up with Hitler's. If this is so, England will have the war won if it can hold out three months. German planes and pilots are noticeably inferior to the British which, however, were greatly outnumbered until recently.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

YES, NO-ING CHILD BENEFICIAL

As I observe parents in relation to their tots at bathing beaches and summer picnics, I am encouraged with the many samples of sympathetic, understanding parenthood I observe. I am very sure that the number of such good instances I have been able to observe has been increasing over a period of years. Of course, one does still have to see some terrible treatment of young children in public places. Nevertheless, the better sort of parenthood in this respect is prevailing, I do believe.

Needless Bossing

It's a delight to see parents and older children patiently helping the tot to get used to the water without fear, even training the little tyke to float and swim. Toddlers at the beach and open picnic places usually have ample space areas in which to move about and play without annoying others or injuring property. Checking on the few necessary items for safety and regard for the rights of others, the parents of a little child can let him alone most of the time. Whereas some parents must be bossing the little child all the time, most are able to keep their bossing at the beach and park to a minimum.

On the Loose

Concerning the runabout from five to 12, I am not so optimistic. It is disheartening to see so many of his age in public recreation places who have little or no regard for the authority of their parents. These children often become a nuisance to others, especially at picnics, defiantly facing dangers and defacing property despite the warnings and commands of their parents. Often these youngsters will venture into deep water or beyond known safe bounds right before the helpless mother's eyes, as she calls in vain. And if a tragedy occurs!

Some city children visiting in rural places, not having learned adequate obedience, will venture into dangerous swimming holes, lured on by the more experienced natives.

Sometimes two or three of these runabouts, seeking adventure, will experiment with improvised rafts and scows, all too often meeting with accident. Parents should guard their children against such foolish risks. In order to do so, these parents will have cultivated basic obedience in the child in his earlier years to the end that he will accept NO as final and will continue to have a wholesome respect for authority. While some children who are best trained in obedience will meet with serious or fatal accident, fewer will than those who have not learned to obey.

Terrible Toll

Many children crippled for a lifetime or killed in accidental deaths would have the privilege of living on to old age with sound whole bodies if they had in their earlier years been disciplined in the ABC's of obedience.

But we must not be too hard on their parents. Have they not been told by alleged experts for years and years that they should never lay the hand on the child to restrain him, else they would warp his personality? No matter about losing his life, warping his body, character or future citizenship. Anyway, no one has proved that adequate restraint will warp personality. Rather, I believe, proper restraint is necessary to prevent such warping.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THOSE DOUBLE FEATURES.

Eighty-five million people—the average weekly size of America's movie-going audience—is a whale of a chunk of population.

What does this mammoth audience think of the most hotly controversial issue of film entertainment in recent years—the double feature? Does the majority really regard it as a friend or foe of an evening's amusement in the realm of flickering fantasy?

Hollywood, after consulting—as one observer puts it—everyone from astrologers to the wife's cousin, has now up and decided to have Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public settle it themselves through a public opinion poll.

Meanwhile, one studio is going a step further and proposes to let the movie public enjoy the role of casting director. One of the nation's most reputable opinion sampling organizations has set up a sister organization for that purpose and will poll the public for its views on what stars should fill what roles in forthcoming pictures.

We are not psychic enough to assert Wendell Willkie has anything to do with this. But his nomination gave new and overwhelming proof that public opinion is still dominant, with power to move mountains and upset apple carts. And public opinion, having played such a spectacular role in recent political history, seems to have won for itself—in the eyes of Hollywood—the right to play a starring role in filmdom.

From it would YOU take a sip?
Would you pass it to another—

"Please give us girls some advice as to how to avoid being wallflowers at dances," writes Violet.

Answer: (1) Become an expert dancer, even if you have to sneak off and pay for private lessons. (2) Go to your neighborhood's best beautician and fashion shop and be glamourized. Even if you cannot afford these processes, seek the advice of their proprietors. If you haven't the knack of fixing yourself attractively, you should put yourself in the hands of experts. If neither of these processes brings results avoid the dance floor and display your talents in the swimming-pool, on the tennis-court or the golf links—whenever they show up to the best advantage. Readers' Questions Answered

Question: This summer, I shall make my first trip to a seaside resort, and stay at a hotel. Please advise me what I should take with me—in the way of bathing attire, clothes, etc.—Harriet.

Answers: If possible, take two bathing suits, that you may always have a dry one to wear. You will, of course, need a rubber cap and slippers and a beach robe to protect you from too much sun and to keep you from being chilled after your swim.

Summer sports clothes—knitted, linen, pique or silk dresses and white sport shoes will be very comfortable and appropriate for wear while having breakfast and luncheon at the hotel, as well as during the strolls on the boardwalk. During the latter activity you will find a brimmed hat indispensable for keeping the sun's glare out of your eyes.

You may have some stormy weather during your trip, so you should be prepared for it by including an ensemble suitable in color and weight for cool, rainy days.

A few afternoon dresses with suitable shoes, about two hats and evening clothes (if you expect to have use for them) should complete your wardrobe.

What's What At A Glance

Japanese Control Is Spreading In Asia
Take Advantage Of European Conditions
Appetite Of Japanese Said To Be Strong

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—With as little publicity as possible Japan evidently is getting into actual control of everything, in southeastern Asia and southeastern Asiatic waters, that the mikado thinks he can hang on to on the strength of conditions in Europe.

To be sure, there's been talk for some time to the effect that this was what the Tokio government was planning to do, but reports now are that the Japs aren't merely planning; they're outright doing it.

For instance, Washington got word the other day that Premier Fumimaro Konoye had demanded, from Tokio, the right to establish Japanese army and navy bases in French Indo-China. The Tokio foreign office did, indeed, deny it, saying the story was circulated for "ulterior purposes." But from other reliable sources came the assertion that it didn't make much difference whether or not such a demand had been made, because the Japs already had seized the bases. And France couldn't do anything about it.

Officials at the state department's division of Far Eastern affairs venture the guess that, by the time the truth has been sorted out, as between these conflicting accounts, Nippon will be found firmly entrenched in the area in question.

More Demands Ahead?

Next thing, it's suspected, Premier Konoye will be making demands as to the Dutch East Indies, and then may be it will be discovered that Japan has anticipated its demands by having already grabbed the islands.

Presently, British Hongkong and Singapore?

Perhaps Indo-China Hongkong and Singapore are none of Uncle Sam's business. But it will be pretty aggravating if, directly after we have granted independence to the Philippines, the Japanese gobble them, too.

I've read and heard the statement made in this country that we shouldn't be particularly concerned in what the mikado does on his own side of the Pacific. Nevertheless, Premier Konoye is on record to the purport that he's going ahead with his program regardless of what the United States thinks about it. Obviously, he's of the opinion that Nippon will be stepping on our toes, whatever our judgment may be—and he intends to step on 'em.

Furthermore, even if the Japs don't threaten us from a military standpoint, they've played a smash with our oriental trade already. Estimates are that the United States has lost 80 per cent of its business with the Chinese, due to Japanese interference.

Jap Appetite Insatiable

Those Japs' appetite is insatiable, too.

Besides China, and France's and Britain's possessions in southeastern Asia, they have an eye on India, Australia and New Zealand.

True, that's a long look into the future. Still, some of their militarists have taken it, and said so in official papers. The Japanese in general are all right, but their militarists (the samurai) are notoriously wild-eyed. For anything they want they're perfectly willing to commit suicide. And they're 100 per cent dangerous to bystanders while they're perfectly trying to do it. It's widely recognized as highly desirable to squelch them before they get started.

If they have good luck with Indo-China, Hongkong, Singapore, the Dutch East Indies and the Philippines, they are liable to start after Hawaii. That they'll succeed in licking China proper, with its size and huge population, is problematic, however.

It's like jumping into the contents of a grain elevator. The jumper goes right through the grain alright, but the stuff closes up above him as slumps downward and smothers (or drowns) him.

But not all of Japanese would-be victims have the population of a grain elevator.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

by The Baltimore Sun (Copyright, 1940)

Mr. Flnny's Conditions

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.

IDEAS which the White House desires to promulgate, but does not want to sponsor at a press conference, are regularly transmitted to the public through a selected group of New Dealish writers. This has come to be be recognized Administration technique.

SOME of these writers are—or have been—part of the Aominstration. Some are flattered at being given what they consider "inside stuff". Others, curiously enough, are eager to be known as Liberals and strangely think that championship of the New Deal makes them such. Usually these Administration journalistic adherents function pretty effectively, but there are times when they unconsciously reveal more than was intended.

FOR EXAMPLE, the other day two of the most reliable of these reflectors almost simultaneously printed articles in which it was stated that Mr. Harry Hopkins, special political representative of Mr. Roosevelt at Chicago, definitely would have no part in the management of the campaign. That, they declared, would be wholly in the hands of Mr. Eddie Flynn, the new national chairman and Boss of the Bronx machine. Praising Boss Flynn for his smartness, it was asserted that he already had taken steps to protect himself from interference by the amateurs close to the President.

MR. FLYNN it was said, had had a very clear understanding with Mr. Roosevelt before he took over his job. First, Mr. Roosevelt had promised not to send him any directions or suggestions through intermediaries; second, he pledged himself not to adopt any form of political strategy without Mr. Flynn's knowledge and consent. In other words, Mr. Roosevelt will deal directly with Mr. Flynn, either in personal conference or over the telephone which is expected to be in daily use between them. There are to be no political games played on the side from which Mr. Flynn is barred.

TWO reasons are given for Mr. Flynn's insistence upon these conditions. One is that he recalls the fact that the amateur politicians of the "inner circle" were the ones who drove a wedge between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Farley and were responsible for the shabby treatment of the latter. He dose not propose to have that happen to him. The other is that, having seen the way in which Mr. Hopkins bungled the "draft" at Chicago, Mr. Flynn's anxious, for the sake of his reputation as a professional politician, to keep him out of the campaign. Therefore, Mr. Roosevelt has agreed not to let anyone block the channel of personal political communication between him and Mr. Flynn. "All stories to the contrary," declares one of the more pontifical of these journalistic reflectors, "may safely be disregarded."

THAT is fine. But what does it do to the contention of the third-termers that Mr. Roosevelt is absorbed in the "great problem of the Presidency"; that his mind is wholly upon the question of national defense; that he has no thought of politics and is unable to campaign for himself? The answer is that it knocks the props from under that contention. It completely confirms the statement made in this place that at this moment Mr. Roosevelt is in politics up to his neck; that behind the screen of indifference to politics he is actively conducting his own campaign; that the picture of a President reluctant to run again and unable to give any time to the business of re-electing himself is as hypocritical a piece of humbuggery as has been known in American politics.

IN BRIEF, Mr. Roosevelt is deliberately trying to fool the people. Whether he succeeds or not remains to be seen. It is true that most of them seem easy to fool, but this business of using an international crisis as a means of keeping himself in power beyond the limit which all other Presidents have observed is so crude that it would appear only those determined to be fooled could swallow it. Nothing quite so obvious has been attempted in a good many years.

FROM authoritative and recognized spokesmen of the White House the statement is made that Mr. Flynn, the professional campaign manager, proposes to deal directly with Mr. Roosevelt on all matters political and all messengers, special representatives and liaison officers are to be eliminated. There are to be no go-betweens. If this means anything, it means that Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Flynn will be in constant consultation and closest touch throughout the campaign; that

VICTORY

Take this from one who has often lost
And played sometimes and won,
There's never a victory worth the cost
Of a shameful action done.
And it's better to lose to a foe your pelf
Than to lose that bout with your inner self.

You will badly play as all men must do
And your rival will take the game,
But you come home when the day is through
With never a touch of shame.
Lose match; lose pride; lose wager, too
But don't you lose that fight with you.

Play out the string to the bitter end,
Give honestly, thrust for thrust,
Lose a match, but don't lose a friend;
Lose championship when you must
But if tempted 'twixt right and wrong to choose,
That is one fight which you mustn't lose.

Lose all things else in this world of ours,
Cups, badges and medals of gold.
To better skill and superior powers
Give up what you'd like to hold.
But come you home with your head erect!
Don't lose that fight for your self-respect.

Roosevelt Offers Johnson New Job

Former Assistant Secretary Of War Surprised At Offer Of Attractive New Job

JOHNSON MAY GET POSTMASTER JOB

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—President Roosevelt Thursday offered to Louis Johnson " a new and attractive job," which the former assistant secretary of war is seriously considering.

Although Johnson declined to state its nature, the obvious pleasure and surprise the proffer had given him indicated it might be a cabinet post.

Johnson recently resigned as assistant secretary of war to make way for Robert P. Patterson, Republican and personal choice of Secretary Henry L. Stimson, and his friends at the time described him as considerably hurt over what he considered lack of appreciation of services to the new deal.

Johnson Surprised

At that time the president wired him urging that he become a presidential administrative assistant in charge of national defense co-ordination. Johnson said flatly that post was not under consideration.

"When I got into the president's office this morning much to my amazement he offered me a new and quite attractive job which comes as quite a surprise," Johnson said. "I am going to think it over and I probably will be back with my answer when the president returns to Washington from the New York army maneuvers, late next week."

The postmaster generalship will be open on August 31 by James A. Farley and Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace will vacate as soon as he starts actively campaigning as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee. There have been reports that Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins also may resign to take a post less in the lime light.

Selects Ickes To Answer Willkie

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—President Roosevelt Thursday selected Secretary of Interior Ickes to reply to the speech of acceptance which Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, will make at Elwood, Ind., Saturday.

Ickes, famed "hatchet-man" for the new deal and one of the most ardent of the third-term boosters, will make the reply in a half-hour radio speech scheduled to be carried over the National Broadcasting Company's coast-to-coast blue network Monday night, 8:30 to 9 EST.

every important decision made will be as a result of conferences between the two men; that all ideas and thoughts of a political nature which Mr. Roosevelt has will be personally conveyed to Mr. Flynn and talked over with him.

A CANDIDATE and his campaign managers have got to be in close communication and there has got to exist the clearest possible understanding between them. If that cannot be achieved personally, it must be achieved through an intermediary. It is now emphatically stated that there will be no intermediary. This tells the story. That makes his pose of aloofness from politics completely transparent. It ought to make considerably clearer, too, the essential fakery behind this third term attempt. If once the people get a clear view of the kind of game that is being played, they are not likely to leave much of that attempt.

Nassau Awaiting Duke And Wally

Mass Demonstration For Former King And American Wife May Be Staged

(International News Service)

NASSAU, Bahama Islands, Aug. 16.—Loyal British residents of this new world British colony today awaited with increasing eagerness the arrival of their new governor, the Duke of Windsor, and his American-born wife, the duchess.

Announcement that the former British monarch and the former Wallis Warfield of Baltimore are en route here from Bermuda under conditions of strictest secrecy roused the tropical islands and their inhabitants to a high pitch of excitement.

If authorities approve a mass demonstration, a huge sign reading "welcome" atop historic Spanish Fort Charlotte will greet the duke and duchess when they arrive.

Meanwhile advance distribution of copies of the address of welcome to be delivered by W. C. B. Johnson, speaker of the house of assembly, disclosed one significant point.

Keen-eyed observers noticed that portions of the address referring to the duchess as "her grace" have been changed to read "the duchess".

Again Postpone Highway Opening

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 16.—Postponement of the dedication of the $70,000,000 superhighway between Harrisburg and Pittsburgh until September or later was disclosed by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission today in a communication sent the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commecre.

It was felt that litigation in the U. S. district court at Scranton, arising from $2,500,000 law suits filed against the commission by four of the six contracting firms which built the tunnels, might contribute to the delay.

Ninety of the country's most prominent industrialists have been invited by Commission Chairman Walter A. Jones to inspect the highway the week-end of Aug. 25.

HELD FOR SENTENCE COURT

Alderman James C. Brice today stated that Stanley Gruca, R. D. 3, and Ralph Martin, 910 South Jefferson street, had waived a hearing Thursday, when arraigned on a charge of larceny in connection with the reported theft of a mowing machine from Everett Moore, Volant, R. D. 2. The alleged act occurred last December. The arrests were made by Lawrence County Detective Paul Welsh.

PERELMAN'S REFUSE TO RAISE DIAMOND PRICES!

War Forces DIAMOND PRICES UP!

We Will Not Profiteer! Present Diamond Stock Will Sell At Prevailing LOW PRICES — BUY NOW AND SAVE ! ! ! ! !

Remember 1914? The same thing is happening in the diamond market today. Amsterdam and Antwerp are victims of aggression—these two world-famous diamond cutting markets are cut off from their regular production. Already importers and wholesalers are demanding higher prices. Many diamond dealers will take this opportunity to profiteer on their diamond stock. This is not OUR desire or purpose. We anticipated the price rise and frankly admit our present large stock of diamonds was purchased at the former low prices and we will sell them to you at these low prices while they last. When the time comes that we have to replenish the stock at higher prices, then it is onlynatural that they will sell to you at higher prices. This is a diamond opportunity for wise investors.

PERELMAN'S "Famous Fifty" 10 DIAMOND BRIDAL PAIR $50.00

God's Care Of His People

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for August 18 is Psalm 23, the Golden Text being Psalm 23:1, "Jehovah is my shepherd, I shall not want.")

The Psalm which is the subject of today's lesson is short, but it is probably the best known and loved of all the psalms. It has no date. Some put it early in David's life, some place it late. It might have been written about 1040 B. C. David lived through most of the 11th century.

Let us read it over and then talk about it.

"Jehovah is my shepherd; I shall not want
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures.
He leadeth me beside still waters,
He restoreth my soul.
He guideth me in the paths of righteousness for his Name's sake
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death death
I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me;
Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me,
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies
Thou anointeth my head with oil;
My cup runneth over
Surely goodness and loving kindness shall follow me all the days of my life;
And I shall dwell in the house of Jehovah forever."

"Jehovah is my shepherd!" The Jews were a pastoral people, and shepherds guarded their flocks with their lives, if necessary. Therefore, there was no higher conception of tender care and watchfulness over those in his charge, than that of the shepherd and his flock. A shepherd saw that his charges had the best of pasture available, that they had water, that they had a place to rest, and if one was lost, the shepherd sought for it until it was found and restored to the flock.

Trust In the Lord

Thus does Jehovah watch over His people. If we but trust in Him, we, too, shall be taken care of—led to green pastures beside the still waters, and souls restored when they are weary.

We shall be led into paths of righteousness—not wickedness. And even if we are compelled to walk through the valley of the shadow of death"—which we all must do some time in our lives—we should "fear no evil" for our God is with us. His rod and his staff shall comfort us—again symbols of the shepherd for each shepherd carries a staff to lean upon and to touch the sheep with and a rod with which he could strike down, a wild beast that threatened his sheep.

"Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies." We all have enemies, evil thoughts, that would lead us astray, temptations of many kinds that beset us and to which we may give way. But if we turn to Jehovah our Shepherd we will not turn from the paths of righteousness but feast in the presence of these same enemies and grow strong to withstand all such assaults.

Thou anointest my head with oil, my cup runneth over."

Anointing the head of a guest with sweet-smelling oil was an old Oriental custom. Do you remember when the woman anointed Jesus' head with precious ointment in the house of Simon? Jesus' host expostulated, and Jesus rebuked him saying: "My head with oil thou didst not anoint." Simon had not treated the Lord as an honored guest and had no right to reprove the woman who recognized her Savior.

Our cup of joy, therefore, is running over, because of our sureness of God's tender care.

And last, we must have faith that we shall be taken care of in the future—no matter what happens. "Surely goodness and loving kindness shall follow me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in the house of Jehovah forever."

Hoy many of us can rely confidently on this promise in these troubled times? Surely, the Lord has not failed us. We can still trust in Him and be serene even as "the old order changeth," and we fear for the future of thousands of the human race.

Surely, we can have faith that we shall "dwell in the house of Jehovah forever."

Out-Of-Staters Are Discouraged In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 16.—Out-of-state workers have been asked not to travel to Pennsylvania to seek work in national defense industries.

Secretary of Labor and Industry Lewis G. Hines said that more than 300,000 workmen were seeking employment through the Pennsylvania state employment service.

Hines' plea paralleled that recently issued by the Michigan unemployment commission which stated that out-of-state job seekers faced certain "disappointment."

Wallace Quits Cabinet Post

Democratic Vice Presidential Nominee Quits Post As Secretary Of Agriculture

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Henry A. Wallace, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, Thursday presented President Roosevelt with his resignation as secretary of agriculture effective at a date to be set by the chief executive.

Wallace made known his act as he left the White House after having lunch with Mr. Roosevelt.

Shortly after his nomination at the Chicago convention, Wallace announced that he would either resign his cabinet post or take a leave of absence without pay.

Although there was no immediate indication what effective date Mr. Roosevelt might designate for the resignation to take effect, there have been reports that it will occur about August 29 when Wallace is formally notified of his vice presidential nomination.

Build Section Of Curb Along Cherry Street

Workmen Move Machinery To Oak Street—Cherry Street Job Halted

Workmen who were employed on East Cherry street, constructed a portion of curbing along the south side of the street Thursday, before city council called a halt to the job.

All of the machinery that was being used on the ward street, was moved last Thursday afternoon to Oak street, and work was scheduled to get under way on that paving job this morning.

According to members of city council, it was necessary to stop this work because of the Mahoning avenue viaduct remaining closed to traffic. Cherry street is one of the detour routes to and from Mahoningtown, while the viaduct is closed, and to close this street too would create a traffic difficulty.

Ward Group To Spend Week On Camping Trip

Six Mahoningtown young men plan to leave the latter part of this week for a week's camping trip. They will camp at a private camp near the Y. M. C. A. site.

Those in the party will be William Howard, William Johnson, James Johnson, Sam Davy, Jack Wilson and Kenneth Moss.

Worship Service Sunday Cancelled

Due to the fact that Rev. Milton E. Shearer, pastor of the Madison Avenue Christian church, is on vacation, the regular morning worship at that church has been cancelled.

Sunday school will be held as usual at 9:45 o'clock, at which time communion service will be held. Union service will be held as usual in the evening.

BOARD TO MEET SUNDAY MORNING

There will be a meeting of the official board of the Madison Avenue Christian church Sunday, according to an announcement made today.

The meeting will be held immediately following the short morning service in the church.

PENNSYLVANIA POULTRYMEN PLAN TO TAKE ANNUAL TOUR

A two-day automobile tour is planned by the Pennsylvania Poultry Association for August 21 and 22. Assembly and registration will be on the University of Delaware campus, Newark.

Visits the first day will be made to Pencader Poultry farm, Newark; Hoke Palmer poultry farm, near Glasgow; William Haas farm, near Dover; Indian River poultry farm at Ocean View, all in Delaware, and then to Harold Morris hatchery, Bishopville, Maryland. The overnight stop will be at Salisbury, Maryland.

On the second day visits will be made at the John H. Dulany and Son establishment, Fruitland; Norman Whitington farm, Marion Station; Swift and Company, turkey plant, Vienna; H. H. Rieck farm, Preston and then back to Delaware to the O. A. Newton and Son farm, Bridgeville. Here the tour will disband.

This tour will give the Pennsylvania poultrymen opportunity to see breeding establishments, farms, producting hatching eggs, roaster and broiler production, hatcheries, processing plants, turkey growing operations, as well as fruit and vegetable areas and some beautiful scenery.

IMPORTED BULBS ARE AFFECTED BY THE WAR

Flower growers who have relied on imported bulbs for their plantings, are seriously concerned over the supply for 1941 blooming.

American stocks of tulip bulbs are so small that they cannot be seriously considered as an adequate supply for fall planting. Furthermore, many of the varieties are of old-fashioned types, which have been discontinued.

However, there is a bright side to the picture. It is highly probable that bulbs heretofore obtained from Holland may now be gotten from Great Britain. From reliable sources comes the report that the British government is prohibiting the sale of flowering bulbs in the British Isles in order that an association recently formed may supply these bulbs for the American market. The whole output of daffodils, tulips, hyacinths and miscellaneous spring flowering bulbs is to be held back for export trade and not to be used in the British Isles.

Because of the foreign situation, it will be impossible to depend upon getting tulip bulbs from Holland this year. While it is fortunate that the bulb fields were undamaged by flooding or fighting, a desperate situation confronts the Holland bulb producers.

Fortunately for the United States, excellent selections of daffodils of good quality are now being grown in this country. The same is true of Freesias, Dutch iris, and other interesting bulbs. Prices in most instances are lower than those quoted for previously imported stock.

Flower gardeners who fortunately purchased Holland bulbs during the past year should dig them up when the foliage has turned brown. After storage over summer in a cool, well-ventilated, dry place, the bulbs can be planted again in October.

GRADE AND SEPARATE DEVELOPING PULLETS

When the poultryman has a number of pens or houses to manage, a certain amount of housing space will be available in midsummer.

As good culling reduces the size of the flock, certain groups can be combined for efficient management. The resulting empty pens can be cleaned and prepared for the new pullets as time permits, and then the early maturing birds can be separated from their slower sisters.

This move allows the slow pullets an opportunity to develop normally into profitable producers.

Pullet culling follows pullet grading. After three or four selections of the better developed pullets at intervals of one or two weeks, those left usually will be the unthrifty and potentially unprofitable fowls which can be sold for meat.

STRIP CROPPING SAVES SOIL AND MACHINERY

Where large and small gullies cut the slopes of hilly grain fields, much valuable soil is lost and the harvesting of the grain and the hay which usually follows, is hard on machinery and tempers.

However, if sloping fields are divided into strips, laid out approximately on the contour and farmed so that plowed strips alternate with strips of sod, nearly all the washing is controlled and loss of soil and gully annoyance are reduced to the minimum.

On the State Industrial School farm at Huntingdon, the farm manager has divided all the sloping fields into 80-foot strips on the contour with the help of County Agent R. S. Clark. Mr. Kirk, the farm manager is well satisfied with the results. He reports that this was the first year he was able to cut 60 acres of barley without several breakdowns of the binder caused by dragging it over deep gullies.

Strip cropping involves no outlay of money and causes little inconvenience in getting it under way. The Agricultural Extension Service has aided more than 700 farmers to start such a system of soil saving. Hundreds of other farmers have laid out their own systems satisfactorily and have found that they serve the purpose admirably. Some of these farms have been strip-cropped for 50 years.

DAIRY HERD IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION REPORT

The eleventh month of the testing year for the Lawrence County Dairy Herd Improvement Association was completed July 31. Wayne Walker and Frank Wright, testers report that 582 cows were tested during the month of July. Thirty-seven herds were tested and in these herds there were 84 dry cows. 91 cows produced over 40 lb. butterfat and 27 of these cows produced over 50 pounds butterfat. Sixty-one cows in the association produced in excess of 1,000 pounds milk with 17 of this group having records of 1,200 pound milk or more.

The Jersey herd owned by Lauren Thompson, New Wilmington led the Association in butterfat average per cow for the month, it being 44.52 pounds. This herd was also second in milk production by averaging 854.1 pound milk per cow, in the herd. The Jersey herd owend by N. E. EUROPE'S SMALL AREA

England is smaller than North Carolina; France is smaller than Texas; Italy is smaller than New Mexico. It would take three Denmarks to make one Wisconsin. All of which explains why Americans see so much of Europe on one trip.

INSANITY CAN NOW BE RELIEVED BY A MINOR OPERATION

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA—Relief from insanity brought on by excessive worry, fear or anxiety is possible through minor brain surgery, it was revealed by Dr. Harold D. Palmer, Professor of Psychiatry, at Women's Medical College, Philadelphia.

The "worry-proof" operation, according to Dr. Palmer, involves severing the two frontal lobes from the rest of the brain. These members are credited with protecting the patient's imagination into the future. Consequent result of the surgery, is that the victim lives in the present, without thought as to what lies ahead, he explained.

As late as the 18th century goldsmiths commonly acted as bankers.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Eventually, polio runs its course, peraps leaving withered limbs in its wake. Then what?

The after-treatment, the reclamation work, shouldn't be started too soon. We must wait until all traces of soreness and tenderness in the muscles have disappeared. When this condition has been reached, then all the muscles which remain affected by the paralysis should be massaged and exercised. The greatest care must be taken, however, to avoid fatigue. This is vitally important, because a too early vigorous massage and exercise of these paralyzed muscles will cause them to waste away so completely that all possibility of their being developed is lost.

I have seen parents, in their eagerness and enthusiasm, actually destroy the child's chance of recovering completely from his paralysis.

In the beginning, exercising and massaging should be done once every two or three days. These periods are increased until the exercises are being taken three times a day. Of course, the best person for such exercising and massaging is an experienced operator. However, many families can't afford such a luxury as a specialist in this line. In these, a mother, father or other relative can learn how to do it. It will not be easy for it calls for a great deal of patient work.

It seems to me that it is in the after-care of children, such as polio calls for, that parents show the highest affection and devotion to their children. Any parent can call in a doctor when a child is sick. But after the sickness, and the doctor is gone leaving his instructions and suggestions and instructions for after-care, then it is up to the parent.

Not every parent is ready to sacrifice freedom to give full attention to such a child. I have known mothers and fathers who started off with a rush on this important after-care and then after a few weeks, when progress by the child wasn't immediately evident, they began to give the child less and less attention. Naturally and sadly, the child lost all chance of recovery.

When you undertake to give massages and superintend the exercise of a child recovering from infantile paralysis, you must be prepared to face not only months, but even years of slow, heartbreakingly slow, progress. One mother I know spent three years working on her boy's two paralysed legs. Because of her selfless devotion to that duty, he walks today.

Crops In State Continue Average Despite Reverses

Deficient Rainfall Has Hendered Crops Somewhat, Apples Are Developing Nicely

GRAPE CROP IS LARGER THAN 1939

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 16.—Deficient rainfall, coupled with soaring temperatures, have retarded Pennsylvania's crops but they still continue average, the federal-state crop reporting service announced Thursday.

Harvesting was progressing satisfactorily, the service said, but the ground was too dry for fall plowing in the eastern part of the state. The report for the week ended August 13 added:

"Returns from wheat and rye threshing indicate yields above average. The corn crop is in poor to fair condition in the northern third of the state and fair to good elsewhere and would be improved by more moisture. Oats harvest is becoming general, and, though the crop was damaged in localities by dry weather, yields are generally satisfactory. The buckwheat crop continues to make fair progress. Early potatoes are yielding well. The late crop is still promising, but needs rain.

Tobacco Crop Fair

"The tobacco crop is rated fair, with much variation in development and in need of favorable weather. Meadows are generally in good condition and the first crop of hay has been made. Soybeans are doing fairly well.

"The soil is too dry for trucks crops which, nevertheless, are reported in fair to good condition. Little fall spinach has been planted on account of lack of moisture. Sweet corn has made no improvement over prospects a week ago. Repofts of early canning tomatoes are not encouraging, but the late crop promises to be good if moisture proves ample.

"Apples are developing satisfactorily, though not so clean as previously reported. Golden Jubilee peaches are now being harvested in Southeastern Pennsylvania, and picking of the late crop is scheduled to begin the last week of August. The cherry harvest is over. Grapes are in good condition, and a crop larger than last year in prospect."

Enough Elephants To Furnish G. O. P.

If elephants with upraised trunks bring extra good luck, then the household of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Colbert and family, of Rose avenue, should be filled with all sorts of good luck and things, as Mrs. Colbert's hobby is collecting these figurettes.

Beginning last September, 1939, with three miniature elephants, taken from a charm bracelet, the hobbyist now is the proud possessor of 123 various sorts of elephantine sculptured work The original figures were made of glass composition and colored with patriotic hues.

Among the compositions from which several figures of the present day collection are made are marble, vulcanized rubber, iron, ivory, soap stone, glass, unfinished pottery, bronze, porcelain, clay, celluloid, animal teeth, cotton stuffing and gingham.

Mrs. Colbert expresses her aim of the hobby to be able to secure a figure from each state in the Union. So far, she counts Florida, Michigan, Maryland, New York, Minnesota, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois among the states which are represented. The greatest distance from which any figure has come is India, brought to Mrs. Colbert from a Cleveland, Ohio, Christian missionary, who arrived at her home last spring for a visit.

Most interesting also, are the varigated places from which friends have brought the hobbyist their contributions. Some have come from circuses, playing local grounds, carnivals, candy packages, souvenir stores, and curio shops. One small elephant, carved from ivory, was made by a convict and sold at the Allegheny General Prison, and purchased by a friend of Mrs. Colbert's for her collection.

Not only are the assembled images pretty to look at, but also practical. Among some of the uses for them are: book ends, vases, desk blotters, plant holders, tooth brush holders, banks, G. O. P. party symbols, mystic crystal ball, badges, advertisement, cigarette lighters and statuettes.

Most attractive ones are a pair of book ends, made from clay by William Ayers, Sr., of West Washington street, who is Mrs. Colbert's brother-in-law. They are painted a pretty color of blue, with gold shadings. An additional one is of block celluloid with red stones, placed for eyes, which are always shining in every beam of light.

Well-Equipped Defense Units Strongly Urged

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Creation of well-equipped home defense units throughout the nation was urged Thursday before the senate military affairs committee by Gov. Herbert H. Lehman of New York.

"It is imperative that we have a well-armed and well-equipped home guard to take the place of the National Guard when it is called up for federal duty," Lehman said.

Emphasizing the need of prompt action, Lehman said "I feel that it is very important that the states be authorized to promptly set up home guards to replace the National Guard."

Lehman said that so far as the state of New York is concerned he plans that the home guard be equipped as infantry units only but added that twenty units are necessary throughout the nation to protect important industrial centers in an emergency.

LOUIS A. JOHNSON ACCEPTS NEW POST

of Commerce Harry L. Hopkins was about to leave the cabinet for a less conspicuous job, thereby mollifying the old line Democrats who resented his prominence at the recent Chicago convention. In almost every instance, however, these reports emanate from sources that would be glad to see Hopkins taken off the campaign firing step. There was no indication around the White House that the lanky commerce secretary had lost any favor in the president's eyes.

Two Vacancies

Next month, Mr. Roosevelt faces the task of filling two vacancies in his cabinet regardless of any further shakeup. James A. Farley's resignation as postmaster general is effective Aug. 31. Wallace's resignation probably will be called a day or so earlier.

Speculation in some quarters that the president planned some spectacular announcement tomorrow in order to detract from Willkie's publicity on his acceptance speech was deprecated in White House circles. Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early said there was no disposition to attempt to "blanket" the Willkie address. Mr. Roosevelt, it was indicated, will be satisfied with what publicity he gets from inspecting the war games around Ogdensburg, N. Y., while his opponent makes a major effort before a huge throng at Elwood, Ind.

be suppressed and if necessary eradicated with such firmness as the exigencies require." The committee warned, however, against giving way to "hysteria" and the belief that a national defense means militarism."

Meanwhile, the legion's auxiliary submitted resolutions denouncing the American Student Union and urging heavy fines and jail terms for supporters of un-American camps and recreation centers.

Band Competition

Featuring today's sessions were the drum and bugle corps competitions in which more than 150 crack units will participate at Albright college stadium. A parade of the 40 and 8, fun-making group, occupied the center of attention last night.

Nomination battles for tomorrow's elections saw Jacob Schmidt, Jr., Bristol; William J. Rhoads, Norwood, and Charles McCann, Reading, named for the post of eastern vice commander to succeed Joseph I. Finnerty, Philadelphia.

Among officers elected and installed in the 40 and 8 division were Howard Bitner, Latrobe, state commander; Robert Russell, Bradford, vice-commander; Harry Bramwell, Bethlehem, head of degree team; Dr. A. H. Wittmann, Philadelphia, national committeeman.

FREE ON FORFEIT

Police last night arrested on a charge of "suspicion" one Bill Mancin, 1328 Croton avenue and he was allowed his freedom on $100 cash bond for a hearing later. Arrest was made in Florence avenue.

PILOTS BATTLE FOUR MILES UP

A. F. battled like storied figures from one of H. G. Wells' romances of the future.

From the ground, their machine-guns could barely be heard like the feeble tapping of typewriters.

By mid-afternoon, it was estimated that between 25 and 30 German planes were down.

A grim accompaniment to this war of highly skilled technicians is the constant series of burials of fallen German airmen. Today nine were buried in a village cemetery with an R. A. F. chaplain conducting the service.

Lose Air Crews

Checking the results of yesterday's phenomenal air battle which set an all-time world record for the number of planes destroyed in one day, experts remark that the significant point is that the Germans lost not merely their 169 planes but the crews of all of them.

Flying constantly over enemy territory the Germans are inevitably captured if not killed, while the R. A. F. has the immense advantage of being able to save its pilots by parachuting.

During the last eight days, while the Germans have lost 468 crews, the R. A. F. lost 105 planes but saved 23 pilots, meaning 25 per cent. Pilots being so much more valuable than planes, the R. A. F considers that this element plays an important role of helping toward steady diminution of Germany's numerical superiority in the air.

Rioting Occurs In French Cities

Report 18 Killed As Police Fire On Rioters In Cities Of Toulouse And Lyons

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 16.—"Well organized" rioting is reported to have broken out in several French cities, particularly Toulouse and Lyons, the London Daily Mail reported Thursday in a dispatch from the French-Spanish frontier.

(In Berlin official quarters said they had no knowledge of any riots in French cities.)

The Daily Mail produced a colorful account of the alleged riots, stating that demobilized French soldiers, refugees and groups of unemployed marched on various prefectures, brandishing pikes and clubs and yelling:

"Work for all! Down with the bankers! Throw the Germans out! Peace at home!"

18 Reported Killed

Most of the mobs dispersed quietly, said the report, but street fighting broke out at Toulouse and Lyons, where 18 persons were reported killed.

The Daily Mail said police finally threatened to fire on the crowds, which then broke up.

There is a suspicion, said the dispatch, that the Germans inspired the riots from Paris since the disorders assumed an identical form in each city. Furthermore, it was pointed out, the Germans control French communications.

Five Streets In Union Township Have Been Rebuilt

Hard Surfaced City - Type Streets Constructed In Rural District

The Union township road supervisors announced today that the resurfacing of five streets in the township has been completed. With this project completed, the township now has many hard surfaced city-type streets available to motorists.

Several years ago Union township began to build hard surfaced streets, and now with several being done each year, there are very few dirt streets remaining in the district.

Labor for the project was supplied by the WPA and the work was done under the supervision of the township road board.

Residents of the community are well pleased with the work that has been done, and motorists find it a big improvement. The streets just completed recently are: Grandview avenue, McClelland avenue, Moore avenue, High street and Fern street.

In completing the work on these five streets, approximately 1,000 tons of limestone and 30,000 gallons of stone treatment oil were used to cover the surface of the streets, which ammounted to 22,475 square yards.

In view of the fact that so many streets are now in first class condition and motorists may be tempted to speed, the township supervisors have asked for cooperation on the part of drivers in observing the speed laws while driving in the township.

Girl Scouts On Pymatuning Dam Camping Project

Gypsy Unit Enjoying Adventure Jaunt From Regular Camp Site

(Special To The News)

JAMESTOWN, Aug. 16. — The Gypsy Unit of 10 Girl Scouts and two leaders left Camp Kiondashawa Tuesday morning, for a four day "primitive" trip to Pymatuning Lake.

The site being used by the group is located at Pine Crest, three miles from Jamestown on the shore of Pymatuning Lake, the largest artificial lake in Pennsylvania.

The daily menus are planned and prepared by the girls who are all good cooks. Campfires on the beach have been very entertaining as was a six-mile hike to Jamestown, Thursday.

Helen Montana and Betty Lou Montgomery are continuing their lifesaving class and along with the rest of the group, swim twice a day.

The girls made white korelin rings, some carved initials and others designs. Everyone is accustomed to sleeping on the ground by now but the girls are looking forward to their return to the main camp on Saturday. They plan to break camp at the Lake site early Saturday morning, but hope to make a return trip next year.

Fourteen inches is commonly agreed upon as the average distance at which books should be held from the eyes in reading.

Sankey-Kerr School Reunion At Harbor U. P.

Old Times Revived At Sankey-Kerr School Reunion Held Thursday; Seventy-Five Attend

The Sankey-Kerr school reunion was held Thursday at the Harbor U. P. church with approximately 75 guests in attendance. Mrs. Marvin Dinsmore was in charge of registrations.

The afternoon was spent informally, and at 6 o'clock the guests were invited to the dining room where they enjoyed a delicious dinner with Rev. S. Y. Sankey pronouncing invocation. Following, the business meeting was held with Attorney McElwee in charge. The session was opened by the group singing "America" with Miss Mary Sankey as accompanist.

Old times were renewed when a letter was read by Attorney Marline McElwee of Philadelphia from R. J. Rhodes, a former teacher, who now resides in Beaver Falls and who had been a teacher for 62 years. Mr. Rhodes is now 83 years of age. Another letter was received from T. A. Stewart of Salem, N. Y., who taught school in 1877. Following, pep singing was enjoyed after which election of officers took place. Serving the next year are: President, Attorney McElwee; vice president, A. E. Kerr; secretary, Mrs. Marvin Dinsmore; treasurer, Harold Barber. Several of Ira Sankey's hymns were sung following the election.

Special guests were Rev. Reed, A. A. Swanson of Edenburg and S. Y. Sankey, former pupil of the school, who is now 90 years of age. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Seidner of Poland O., and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hauber of Cheswick, Pa.

The officers plan to buy numerous editions of this evening's News to send to members of the school who reside out of town.

The officers will meet at a later date to discuss plans for the next reunion.

"Flying Giant" Solos Airplane

New Brighton Youth 6 Foot 5 Inches Tall Learns To Fly At Airport

Despite the fact that he encountered a bit of trouble in sitting comfortably in the rear seat of William Ice's Cub Trainer, airplane, Neil Tracy, of New Brighton, has learned to fly and soloed at the airport on Thursday.

Tracy is a regular "flying giant" he being 6 feet five inches tall and weighing 215 pounds.

In order to maneuver the control stick, in the airplane freely in all directions, it is necessary to remove the rear cushion in Tracy's cockpit when he prepares to make a flight.

In spite of his height, Tracy has been a willing student it is said and has completed the required eight hours of dual instruction time without trouble, and made three excellent solo flights.

Our real problem is simple: Just keep the navy cocked for action and speak softly until our big stick is ready.

"HERE'S WHY I INSIST ON CERTO"
says Jolly Champion Mrs. F. B. Tillou, Jr.

An expression of appreciation to the American People

Thirty-four years ago I perfected a method for making toasted Corn Flakes from fine white corn grown in the United States. Little did I realize the tremendous expansion which lay ahead.

The American people liked my Corn Flakes. Sales grew from a few packages a day until now, after a third of a century, hundreds of thousands of packages are sold each day. Ideal working conditions, security and means of livelihood have been provided for our employees and their families. The American farmer likewise has been benefited by our purchases of grains and other products.

Today as I note with satisfaction the ever increasing sales of Kellogg's (the original) Corn Flakes and our other cereals, I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the American people for their confidence in the products which bear my name. I also wish to thank the grocery industry for their splendid cooperation.

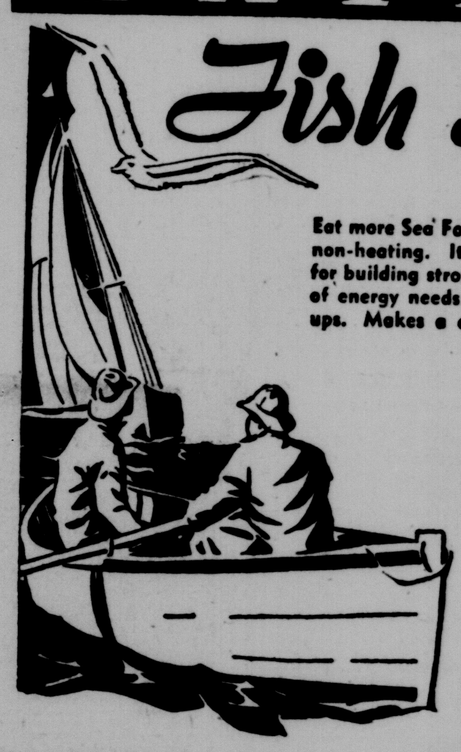

Kellogg products will continue to be made according to the high standards which have won for them this acceptance.

If Raids Hit London I. N. S. Will Still Serve

If and when air raids strike London, with the expected attendant rain of steel, International News Service correspondents will be able to operate and continue to send dispatches from a specially government-constructed news "Maginot Line" forty feet underground.

From this subterranean bomb-proof headquarters, encased in five foot thick steel-reinforced walls, I. N. S. newsmen equipped with special telephones and cable apparatus, will be able to continue to flash bulletins to the United States no matter how severe are the raids.

Plenty Strong

This impregnable press fortress, designed to keep the world informed come what may, is located beneath the towering sky-scraper that houses Britain's Ministry of Information Building experts contend the subterranean news-room could withstand the full weight of the building if the entire structure collapsed.

Key point of the underground news center is the "War Room," a small compact office which will house Sir Walter Monckton, director of press and censorship; J. H. Brebner, editor of News Bulletins; censors and representatives of home security, admiralty, war office, air ministry and foreign office.

For an indefinite time, these official representatives, connected to their respective departments by underground phone lines, could collect, edit, censor, and distribute Britain's news. All the phone lines, which are reinforced in stand shocks, are double connections in case one of the leading lines should, by chance, be put out of commission. Electricity is supplied by a diesel engine, and the "War Room" is supplied with water-filtered air.

Aojoining the "War Room" are scores of sectional rooms, each section holding 40 men. All told, these rooms will house 500 of the ministry of information's staff, and 200 odd men of the foreign press corps. The ministry staff, who have been organized to continue work under emergency circumstances, have quarters in different dug-outs, set apart from the newsmen.

Separate Units

Although the sub-rooms are reported bomb-proof, each section is so designed that if the improbable did happen and a bomb came crashing through, the other sections would remain intact.

Complete in every detail—the press "Maginot Line" even has an operating room, fully equipped so that any major casualties could be dealt with on the spot.

Decision to build this subterranean news fortress, which was completed only recently, was made on the first day of the declaration of war when the ministry of information had to suspend operations in order to find shelter during the first day's raid warning. The thought of British news at a standstill resulted in the rush order for the construction of the deep shelter.

In addition to the ministry of information subterranean headquarters, some of the American foreign correspondents have made arrangements of their own.

International News Service, with a private office in the ministry of information, is equipped with private telephones and with teletype-writer machines, thus providing a link between the ministry office and the bureau on Fleet Street.

I. N. S. similarly has arrangements with specially-arranged bomb-proof "dugouts" at the cable offices, thus enabling I. N. S. to function from any part of London or England in the event of heavy raids.

A Genoese (Italy) industrial company has constructed a new apparatus for recuperating used lubricants by means of a simple and inexpensive process. In this way residual lubricants from every type of engine and transmission can be used again to the great advantage of transport and industry in general.

Ellwood Council Meets Thursday

Many Discussions At Adjourned Meeting Including Monthly Routine Business

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 16.—After a stormy closed session between members of the Playground Commission and the Boro Council, which resulted in the Commission "walking out" when dishonesty charges were said to have been made by a Council member, the Council in open session voted to endorse a voucher for $500 for use today by the Commission to meet the final payroll. Robert Curry and J. C. Boyd voted against the action.

There was $2,000 alloted to the playgrounds in the budget and the sum authorized last evening will make the boro's total contribution $2,284. About $1,000 was spent for equipment this year and the cost of installing the equipment was charged to tre appropraition. It was brought out that in former years, the boro had paid for labor in addition to the appropriation and this was the manner in which the misunderstanding arose, leaving the Commission without sufficient funds to conclude the session's activities.

Carl Bauder, garageman, appeared before Council and stated that he had been notified by the boro manager that he was to have no more repair work from the boro, in accordance with an order to that effect signed by one member of the Council. Mr. Bauder asked why the action was taken with most members disclaiming any knowledge of the incident. Councilman Biordi demanded to know "if one councilman or ten is running this city?", with J. C. Boyd roaring for an apology. When the chairman's gavel ended the heated controversy, after the other members declared that the work was distributed, it was voted to take the cars and trucks to the garages from which they were purchased for repairs. Boyd and Curry voted against the motion asking for consideration of all repair stations.

James Casey and William Mitchell appeared before Council along with a delegation of Clover avenue residents asking for the improvement to the street to begin as soon as possible. It was finally agreed to include the street, for which a project has been prepared, with the Clover, Orchard and Smiley street projects. The boro manager said it was doubtful if the work would be started this year, being based on the allotment of W. P. A. labor. He was later authorized to ask for material bids.

It was agreed to continue the fire chief's salary at the present rate for another month. He has been ill for several months from burns received in a fall at his home.

Total fines, costs and forfeits amounted to $196, with a goodly amount being from parking and traffic law violators.

The health officer's report included 6 cases of whooping cough and 1 of scarlet fever.

Viewers, Ray Aylesworth, Tony Straw and G. B. Wilson, of the Clara Nagel property in Fifth ward set the damage at $160. It was agreed to accept the report. Damage was claimed to have been caused by street improvements.

To the street committee with power to act was given a request for re-establishing the Beaver avenue grade line.

McCready was never in hot water until the last inning, when McElwain opened the inning with the single which ruined a no-hit game. Prefer New Charge Against Arthur Dean

Additional charges of a sensational nature have been filed against Arthur F. Dean, now held in the county jail awaiting trial on a charge of murder in the fatal stabbing of his sister-in-law Helen Nasal, by County Detective Paul A. Welsh, before Alderman O. H. P. Green.

He is charged with adultery, fornication and bastardy, the crime allegedly having been committed against Julia Nasal, minor sister of the girl he is charged with brutally stabbing to death in a lonely spot off Motor street, in Shenango township.

Dean, it is alleged, has molested the child since she was 12 years of age, and it is the contention of the commonwealth that it was over this fact, known to other members of the family, that Dean attacked and murdered Helen Nasal.

News Briefs From City Hall

Annoyance to bare-footed women prisoners in the city jail could be somewhat alleviated were police authorities to muzzle flies.

Although this was not suggested during the trial of two men and a bare-footed woman today in police court, courtroom fans arrived at this decision.

It appears from police records that, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Proskey of 209 East Madison avenue and a friend, Mike Chuckovitz of New Castle Junction, were in the former's home last night.

Some alleged drinking and boisterous noise occurred and police traced the noise.

The Mr. and Mrs. first went to the city jail. The police did not wait for Mrs. Proskey to encase her "tootsies" in shoes.

Later, Mike visited the police station to see what he could do to aid his friends and, like them, he was given lodging for the night.

This morning the woman complained bitterly to Mayor Charles B. Mayne at the attack of the flies on her bare feet.

His Honor wanted to know if she had counted the stripes on their backs, saying some of them had been in "service" in the city bastile for three years.

The mayor then discovered that Chuckovitz had been here 42 years and is not yet a citizen. Andy has been here 30 years and is not yet a citizen. They came from Yugo-Slavia. Chuckovitz is on relief. Andy is not. He tills a garden. They said they cannot find jobs.

As their case was merely one in which a few drinks were consumed and their noise disturbed the neighborhood His Honor freed them without a fine.

J. N. Hilliard, 119 Park avenue, reported to police that while the family was away for several hours last night someone stole $9.00 worth of old gold from teeth and bridgework.

Dust annoyed business house proprietors in North Mercer street near Sycamore street, today. A sewer was retpaired and dust placed over the repaving. Businessmen said it flew into their business places.

Ed. Foley appeared in police court today with abrasions, the result of fistic combat, during which one punch sent him reeling last night into the Shenango river north of the Ludwig garage. Before he was hauled out by Patrolman Ray Showalter, the policeman suffered a bad gash on one of his feet. Today Ed. told His Honor he did not remember anything about what occurred.

"You refused to leave the river when the police ordered you to get out. Had you left I would not fine you. However, under the circumstances you are fined $5.00, with the alternature of spending 10 days in the county jail" Mayor Mayne stated.

Small Boy Suffers Fracture Of Thigh

Jimmy Gray, 4½ years old, of 209 Milton street, is in the New Castle hospital with a fractured thigh, having been struck by an auto driven by Emerson Hallowell of 596 Pine street, at 2:15 p. m. yesterday, according to a report at police headquarters.

According to the report, Hallowell was driving his auto south on Milton street and the boy ran from the rear of an auto parked on the east side of Milton street and was struck.

Peewee Reese Out For Season

Star Brooklyn Shortstop Breaks Bone In Heel Sliding, Indians Keep On Winning

By ED KIELY
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—There was mourning among the Brooklyn baseball fans today.

Peewee Reese, one of the most popular rookies ever to come into the big time, is lost for the rest of the season with a broken foot suffered in yesterday's series finale with the Philadelphia Phillies, and through the void left at shortstop by his passing for the balance of the current campaign can be seen the Dodger fans' hopes disappearing.

Dodgers Lose

He was not all the Dodgers lost. They also dropped the game to the Phillies by 4 to 2, and lost the series by two games to one to remain five games behind the pace-setting Cincinnati Reds, who failed yesterday to hit behind Paul Derringer and lost to the Cubs, 1 to 0. Claude Passeau gave the Reds only five hits and won by the margin of a run scored by Billy Herman on Hank Leiber's single in the fourth.

Three New York pitchers looked like relatives of the Boston Bees, who battered out 18 hits to run up a 12 to 1 decision over the Giants. Pittsburgh and St. Louis had a day of rest.

The Detroit Tigers' pennant stock in the American league market brightened when Buck Newsom, who has been having trouble since he broke his finger, won his 15th game of the season, 5 to 2, by setting the St. Louis Browns down with six hits.

Bib Bobo, the nearest pitcher the Tigers have to Bob Feller, the league leading Cleveland Indians' ace hurler, was never in hot water and received plenty of support from Catcher Birdie Tebbetts and Outfielder Hank Greenberg, who hit homers.

The Indians maintained their hold on first place, however, by nosing out the Chicago White Sox, 5 to 4, with Johnny Allen doing a neat job of relief pitching.

The New York Yankees had their six-game winning streak snapped when the Boston Red Sox captured an easy 11 to 1 verdict and Washington and Philadelphia divided a doubleheader, the Senators taking the opener 9 to 4 and the A's the nightcap 6 to 5.

According to info which has reached this desk, Fred has decorated a contract presented to him by the Panthers of Patterson New Jersey. The club is a member of the American Professional Football Association.

In a note to this desk, J. D. asks New Castle high coaches to watch John "Tiny" McIntosh. The contributor states that McIntosh has been rounding into condition for the past month and will be all set for the grind to come. McIntosh causes the arrow on the scale to zip to the 235 pound mark. "He plays an outstanding game at tackle and will give any opposition plenty of competition," J. D. says.

Another reader reports that Louis Colella, Russ Kawa and Ray Kelley are doing fair and middling in Harrisburg sports circles. As members of the Catholic Youth Club, the localities are grabbing most of limelight. Kawa and Kelley, former New Castle high cage stars, will perform with the Harrisburg Cassions, one of the strongest pro cage outfits in the eastern end of the state, the writer states.....

This is it! New Castle's biggest clearance of high-grade clothes . . . and the season's final bargains in men's suits! Included are Tropical Worsted and Summer Weaves. It's a speedy clean-out of all surviving broken groups: Ones, twos and fews of a kind, of course . . . and take our word for it, if you find your size in a color and style that you like, you'll get a bargain that'll be the talk of the entire household: But you'll have to step lively: values like these are snatched up quickly.

AROUND CITY HALL

Mischievous youths plus weather conditions have done much to destroy many street signs in this city according to municipal officials who have ordered that, in the future, the names of streets be painted on the cement posts.

City authorities are worried over the closing of the Mahoning avenue viaduct. The county commissioners have not yet ordered the viaduct, which underwent repairs, opened. Fire equipment if needed will be unable to use the viaduct to answer calls. Traffic in that section is using Cherry street as a cross-over lane. The city started to excavate for paving but because the viaduct is closed, work was stopped because under the circumstances Cherry street cannot be closed.

In case of drowning telephone calls should be sent to No. 8, 1,000 and 568. The communicant should be brief but exact in giving the location of the drowning. If proper directions are given police can reach the scene rapidly.

Sheriff Ralph E. Elser was graduated from Youngstown college, Youngstown, O., along with his youngest son, Galen. "It's been 20 years since I finished high school," the sheriff said. "I've spent my spare time working toward a college degree."

Former Mayview Guard Sentenced

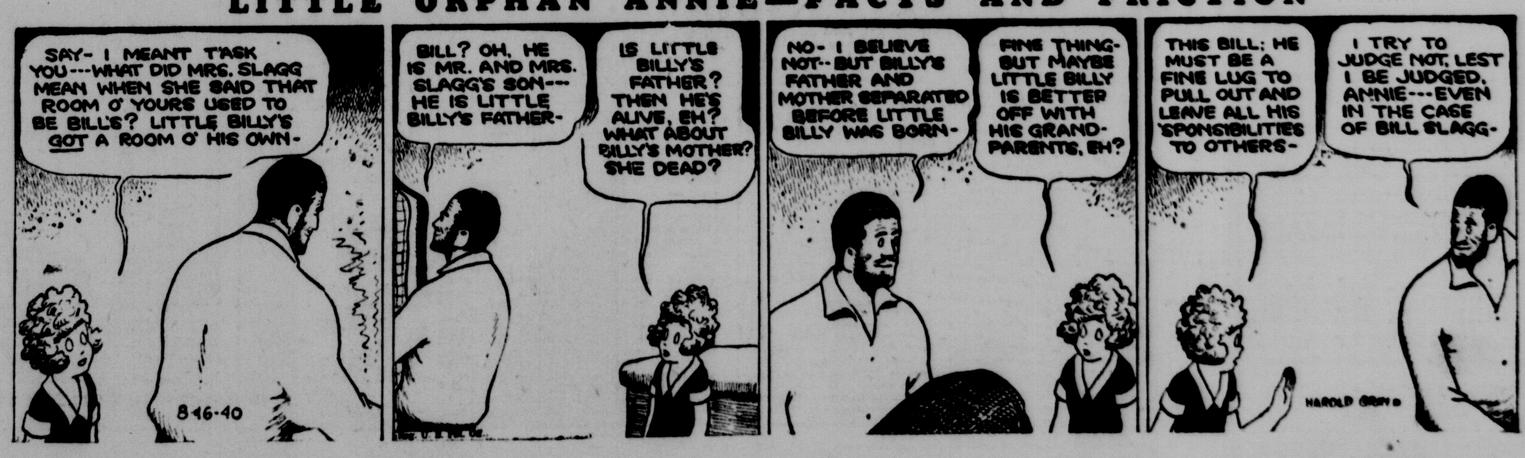

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16.—Francis Rodgers, 22, former Mayview guard who confessed a holdup for which the Butler police chief's son was blamed, Thursday was sentenced to three to 10 years in the western penitentiary.

The victim, Meyer Davis, whom Rodgers confessed to robbing of $110, insisted that Rodgers "isn't the fellow", despite his confession, which completelly exonerated Anthony Graham, Jr., the police chief's son, who was held after the robbery.

Tea shipped from Hongkong, China, in the last year was valued at $7,000,000.

FROM ME TO YOU
By MESSERALL

It seems that some people just don't give a hoot about public property . . . and this feeling is handed down to their children. The parks on the west side of town are being destroyed by boys . . . in every other part of town where we have parks, the citizens who use them are proud to take care while on the property . . . on the west side do we find destruction . . . it is not caused by the people who live around this section of town but by boys who come from "who knows where" . . . if you know of anyone who goes around destroying property, why not have a talk with them and see what seems to be their trouble . . . parents are especially urged to tell their children how to live properly.

About once every summer we find a mess of little white night flying bugs . . . they almost always collect around the windows of the New Castle Store . . . last night was their night . . . hundreds of them lived their short life and then fell to the sidewalk . . . they were also found last night at the North street bridge.

In a paper that was published by this company in 1922 we find a recipe for Vermont Pie . . . here it is: One cup maple sugar, two eggs, two tablespoons flour stirred smooth in a little water, one cup cold water, two tablespoons butter and a little vanilla. Mix sugar and flour, add the water and stir over the fire until thick. Add the egg yolks and butter, beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, add two tablespoons sugar. Put this on top and brown in a slow oven . . . And so you have Vermont Pie.

This may be a tip for the new and maybe old housewife . . . although highly starched articles are not as common as once upon a time . . . Make cold starch with weak soap suds; it will not stick to the irons and the starched pieces will have a good polish—1922.

A request came in this morning concerning tables now not in use at Cascade Park . . . we suggest and recommend that this request be taken to the Park Commission for an authorized answer. Address your request to C. C. Coulthard at the Park.

* * *

It's a mighty fine idea to look over the classified ads now and then . . . they do help to solve many problems when it comes to buying and selling.

Steels, Motors And Aviations Suffer Widest Declines Today

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A flurry of selling late in the forenoon today tumbled the stock market 1 to more than 2 points, with Westinghouse Electric dropping almost 4.

Increased liquidation followed a slow and listless decline through the first hour of trading, and reflected the fifth successive day of Nazi aerial assaults on the British Isles.

Trading for the first hour was limited to 50,000 shares vs. 70,000 in the same period yesterday, but the pace picked up appreciably on the later sell-off.

Steels, motors, aviations and some of the blue chips suffered the widest declines.

Chrysler tumbled more than 2 points, while DuPont, United Aircraft and International Paper preferred lost about as much.

Declines of a point or more were shown by a long list of representative issues. Included were Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, American Air Lines, Glenn L. Martin, Union Carbide, Great Northern Railway preferred and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Coppers, oils and utilities moved fractionally under previous closing levels.

Dozen Are Known Victims Of Flood

Hundreds Are Homeless, Damage Runs High In South And North Carolina, Tennessee And Virginia

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR MORE VICTIMS

(International News Service)

ASHVILLE, N. C., Aug. 16.—With at least a dozen persons known dead and an undetermined number missing, relief workers Thursday pushed through debris covered roads in an effort to reach isolated communities in the flooded areas of the Carolinas, Tennessee, and Virginia.

Hundreds were homeless and the property damage stood at a staggering figure as residents of the stricken towns surveyed the damage caused by torrential rains swept inland by the hurricane which Sunday struck the South Carolina and Georgia coast.

Heaviest loss of life was centered near the northern end of the Tennessee-North Carolina line, where a broken dam sent a 27-foot wall of water roaring down an already swollen Watauga river, through several towns and communities.

Eight Known Dead

At least eight persons perished along the course of the stream, and authorities are fearful that the final toll will be between 15 and 20.

Four persons died in Elizabethton, Tenn., where the wall of water swept away or badly damaged 25 homes, put the electric power plant out of commission, and flooded two rayon mills which furnish employment to approximately 5,000 persons.

The same flooded river accounted for the deaths of two small children near Banner Elk, N. C., and officers received a report the bodies of two other children were seen floating down the stream. Spectators failed in an attempt to recover them, authorities were told.

Four others—all Negroes—were listed as the flood toll in South Carolina.

Ashville, meanwhile, had only a limited water supply while work crews attempted to repair the mains which were washed out by the floods. The mains were expected to be placed today.

More than a dozen industrial plants in North Wilkesboro were flooded as the Yadkin river went on a rampage. Two of the plants burned while water surrounded them. The town was without lights and several hundred persons were homeless. City officials estimated damage there at $2,000,000.

Damage Is Heavy

Hundreds of highway and railroad bridges were swept away, while many highways were blocked by landslides.

Elkin, in northeastern part of the state, was partially inundated, as was Linville, a summer resort.

The flood waters reached across the state line into southern Virginia, and scores of homes reportedly were flooded at Galax.

While the flood crest has not yet been reached at several points in the flooded areas, early relief was indicated by the weather forecasts. Tennessee faces generally fair weather, and the rain is about over in the flood areas of the Carolinas, according to the latest weather forecasts.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Americans are heavy imbibers of light beverages.

They annually consume 13 billion bottles of soft drinks.

A Philadelphia physician first conceived the soft drink idea.

In 1807 he thought of mixing carbonated water with fruit juice.

From 89 to 93 per cent of each bottle of pop is water.

Carbon dioxide gas under pressure is forced into the water.

This gas causes the effervescing bubbles in soda pop.

Carbon dioxide in water is absolutely harmless.

Soda pop is essentially a thirst quencher.

Nationally distributed brands are a boon to travelers.

Ambassador Cudahy Out Of Dog House

By JOSEPH H. BAIRD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—A "love feast" luncheon was held Thursday by acting secretary of state Sumner Welles and Ambassador John Cudahy. It marked the end of recriminations over the envoy's London press interview, which the state department declared a "closed incident."

Meanwhile, blame for the department's censure of the ambassador to Belgium was placed upon the British press, which Cudahy assured Welles had "misquoted" him

Cudahy, his record clear, his continuance as a diplomat assured and his feelings assuaged by friendly interviews with President Roosevelt and Welles, planned to spend a few days in New York and then depart for his Wisconsin home for a vacation.

Thus a climax was reached in the week-long argument as to whether Cudahy, in his London interview, cast aspersions upon the behavior of American soldiers and sought to influence administration policy on whether or not to seek a breach in the British blockade through which food might be sent to Belgium.

Not Rebuked

Cudahy was summoned here by the president to explain his reported remarks. He was quoted as saying the German invaders of Belgium behaved better than American soldiers in the World war.

Welles said the ambassador asserted the press reports had misquoted him and he was not rebuked.

Newspapermen recalled at Welles' previous statement repudiating Cudahy's London interview and indirectly rebuking him for giving it, was not issued until he had received a report on the envoy's remarks from Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy in London. Kennedy was present at the press conference.

Asked whether Kennedy's report had misquoted Cudahy a state department spokesman said he had nothing to add to Welles statement. Cudahy was asked whether he had read Kennedy's report before it was cabled.

"No," he replied, "I suppose Kennedy was in a hurry to get it off.

New Ruling On Wine Containers

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 16.—Effective January 1, 1941, retailers must use the original container to dispense wines, the state liquor control board announced Thursday.

The board order, which rescinds a previous ruling adopted December 1, 1939, emphasizes that when emptied the container must be destroyed within 24 hours.

The container, which must be purchased from the board, may be decanter-styled bottles, the board added.
